National Guard Will Surely Participate.

MINE GUARDS STAY

Non-Union Men Are Sent into the Paint Creek Part of Strike Zone.

CHARLESTON, Aug. 13.—With the failure of the operators and the miners to agree on a compromise when brought together by Governor William B. Glasscock, a new phase has been placed on the strike situation on Cabin and Paint creeks in this county. Following the failure to get the miners and operators to agree on a settlement, Governor Glasscock announced that he would appoint a commission of five men, the men to be named from a list submitted by each side, to ascertain the facts in the controversy.

Although neither side has issued a statement it is known that the miners insisted on the discontinuance of the armed mine guards, while the operators have refused to agree to such a demand, on the ground, they allege, that their coal properties would then be at the mercy of the miners.

With those who have been close observers of the situation the belief prevails that a clash between the miners and mine guards that will also include the state militia cannot be averted. Non-union men were sent into the Paint Creek district last night and today orders were issued to prevent any large assemblage of persons about the railroad stations at the Cabin creek or Paint creek junctions. Troops are stationed at each point for the purpose.

Warne of the Warne-Lynch Undertaking Company of this city, is taking a prominent part in the arbitration of the controversy between the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers of the fifty-two lines east of Chicago, the controversy having to do with the demands for higher wages and improved conditions of employment, involving thousands of engineers.

The board of arbitration is composed of Hon. Oscar Straus, ex-secretary of Commerce and Labor; President Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio; P. H. Morrissey, of the Conductors' and Trainmen's Brotherhood; Otto N. Edlitz, former President of the New York Building Trades Association, and Hon. Frederick Judson.

The board of arbitration has secured the service of Prof. Warne and Prof. Frank H. Dixon, of Dartmouth College, as experts to enable the board to ascertain the actual facts in the controversy, which involves 30,000 men, and all the big railroad systems of the country east of Chicago. It is the most important arbitration that has ever been undertaken to settle labor difficulties with the possible exception of the anthracite miners strike. Mr. Warne took a prominent part in the arbitration of that strike, having been in the mining regions for several months, where he studied all the conditions, the information he furnished being considered very valuable.

NATIONAL GUARD
GOES BACK HOMEKingwood Company Passes through the City from the Strike Zone.

Company G, of Kingwood, of the First Regiment, West Virginia National Guard, which has been stationed at Sterling, Boone county, for some time, passed through this city last night enroute home. The company and Company C, of Charleston, of the Second Regiment, were ordered home yesterday morning following the signing of the contract between the striking miners and the coal operators. All the miners at Sterling and Peytonia went to work yesterday morning.

The Kingwood company was in charge of Captain V. B. Dunn, First Lieutenant G. H. Wilson and Second Lieutenant Dixon Parsons. The guardsmen came in on train No. 710, on the Ohio River division, and the three special cars were transferred to the Grafton division and attached to train No. 2. There were thirty-four enlisted men in the company.

The agreement under which the miners went to work yesterday morning was a victory for the miners in almost every particular. The points gained are two weeks' pay roll, the privilege of dealing where they choose and the "check-off," the short ton weight in weighing coal when it is brought from the mines. The two weeks' pay roll and the elimination of the commissary system were the main differences between the miners and the operators.

The first serious trouble in the mining district started in Boone county and the Kingwood and Charleston companies were among the first ordered to the strike district.

TO IMPEACH BENNETT

Governor Does Not as Yet
Indicate What He Will Do in Case.

CHARLESTON, Aug. 13.—Alleging gross immorality, corruption, incompetency, high crime and misdemeanor, C. W. Dillon, of Fayetteville, recent Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination; George E. Price, one of the best known lawyers of the state and president of the Kanawha Bar Association; ex-Governor W. M. O. Dawson, of this city; and R. T. Hubbard, of Fayetteville, representing a large number of petitioners, have filed charges against William R. Bennett, judge of the Fayette county circuit court, and have asked Governor William B. Glasscock to call a special session of the legislature to impeach Judge Bennett who is the Republican nominee to succeed himself.

The various specifications contain many specific instances of gross immorality, of accepting money and presents, of being intoxicated while in the trial of cases, of making an improper proposal to a woman whose relative was interested in a suit then pending, and with having illicit cohabitation with various named and unnamed persons, naming the time and places.

There is a difference of opinion as to the section under which the impeachment proceedings would have to be conducted, or whether two provisions in the constitution could be used. Section seventeen of article eight provides that "judges may be removed from office by a concurrent vote of both houses of the legislature when from age, mental or bodily infirmity or intemperance, they are incapable of discharging the duties of their office, etc." This provides for a two-thirds vote of the members elected to each house.

In section nine of article four, it is provided that the house of delegates shall have the sole power of impeachment, and the senate the sole power to try impeachments.

Governor Glasscock has not yet indicated whether he will grant the request of the petitioners.
